

I have not enjoyed this lockdown as much as the last one because it was a lot warmer than the current one and I was able to go outside a lot more. I just moved to the school in September and I made a lot of friends since then, but now that I'm not seeing them, it's quite boring.

Doing school work on google classroom is very strange too, but I'm enjoying it. I normally do maths and literacy first, so I can have more fun with the other things on the afternoon. I love doing art the most out of everything and my favourite art lesson was doing face layouts. I've also really enjoyed doing PE. I sometimes play just dance or go outside and play basketball with my sister. I'm a lot better than her. Sometimes my mam joins in too and it's really funny.

I really miss not being at school because doing work from home is a lot different from anything I've ever done, but at least at home I know I'm safe. Hopefully soon things will be back to normal.
